Committee Favors $100,000,000 To WPA

Feels That Sum Is Sufficient Until July 1

WASHINGTON, March 29.—(P)—The house appropriations committee disregarded President Roosevelt's estimate of relief needs, today, voting $100,000,000 to run WPA until July 1.

The president had asked for $150,000,000. Referring to the chief executive's request, the committee said in a report criticizing some WPA operations that "it feels that its proposal is on the side of liberality."

Committee members said the vote for the $100,000,000 bill was 25 to 13.

Shortly after the appropriations committee action, Chairman Sabath (D-Ill.) of the rules committee said at the white house that he had asked the president how he could get along with the reduced appropriation.

The president replied, Sabath asserted, that his aides had reported that $150,000,000 was needed but that if the smaller sum were finally approved the WPA would have to stretch it out and do the best it could.

The $100,000,000, it said, would make the total available for WPA in the present fiscal year $2,163,868,406, compared with $1,427,701,994 in the preceding year and $1,833,456,971 in the year before.

"This expense should not be building up," the committee said, "however, recognizing that time is the essence just now because of the pressing need, however brought about, to project administrative procedure for the remainder of the fiscal year, the committee, perforce, has pursued a more liberal policy than a searching inquiry probably would justify."

Count On Farm Belt Leaders

Congressional economy leaders counted on support of disappointed farm belt members in their efforts to hold down the WPA appropriation to some figure less than $150,000,000, when the measure reaches the floor of the house and senate.

The house committee said that WPA should be able to make administrative economies which will make unnecessary expenditure of the entire additional $100,000,000. It said administrative expenses of the WPA were "unjustifiably high," that it felt there could be "no possible justification" for an average expenditure of about $500,000 a month for travel and subsistence and $150,000 for communications that projects occasioning "disproportionately high labor and material costs should be frowned upon."

Disfavor Exhibit Building

In the latter connection, the committee said a case in point

Leaves Scraps Up To Congress

WASHINGTON, March 29.—(P)—President Roosevelt, departing in mid-afternoon for a 10-day visit to his "other home" at Warm Springs, Ga., is leaving Congress embroiled in a half dozen major scraps.

Neutrality, labor relations, relief, farm aid, social security and tax legislation will keep the legislators busy while he is away.

Before going to Warm Springs, Mr. Roosevelt will stop tomorrow at Tuskegee Institute, Negro school founded at Tuskegee, Ala., by the late Booker T. Washington. He will make a brief talk to the students.

Then he will drive to nearby Auburn to visit the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, second oldest co-educational school in the South. En route to Warm Springs he will make a short stop at Opelika, Ala.

In addition to congressional developments, Mr. Roosevelt will be kept informed about the foreign situation. The end of the Spanish civil war places two problems before the administration: When to recognize the victorious Franco regime and when to lift the embargo on munitions shipments to Spain.

Officials said removal of the embargo, which was applied under the neutrality law, need not await recognition of Franco. Secretary Hull is collecting information on the whole Spanish question before deciding on the latter step.

The general problem of changing the neutrality law was brought up today before the Senate Foreign Relations committee. Mr. Roosevelt has suggested revision, contending that in its present form the law might engender rather than remove war threats.

The President's $552,000,000 defense program has hurdled most congressional barriers, but other spending proposals are stirring up bitter controversies.

To Address Kiwanis Club On 'Economics'
Harold W. Harding of Kansas City, a member of the speakers' committee of the national Junior Chamber of Commerce, will be the guest speaker at the meeting of the Kiwanis club at Hotel Bothwell Thursday noon. His subject will be "Economics."

E. T. Mattingly is the program chairman.

Economy Bloc Cuts Millions Off Farm Bill

Measure Passed To Allot $750,000,000 To Agriculture

WASHINGTON, March 29.—(P)—House economy advocates merged jubilantly victorious Tuesday from hectic affairs with that usually powerful group, the farm bloc.

By the skimpy margin of 14 votes they succeeded in stripping from the billion-dollar agriculture department appropriation bill a $250,000,000 item for "parity" payments intended to raise the purchasing power represented in farm products to the 1909-1914 level.

And, with plenty of votes to spare, they turned back a $60,000,000 appropriation closely related to a new plan advanced by President Roosevelt for disposing of the nation's huge cotton surplus.

Pending Relief Request

Grinning at their success, they then, in concert with most members, voted for passage of the measure, and turned their thoughts and plans to the pending request of President Roosevelt for a supplemental appropriation of $150,000,000 to finance work relief until July 1.

An important element in the rejection of the parity payment fund apparently was a combination of the votes of members from city districts, and the Republican membership generally, although in the latter there were some defections.

One faction of the urban representation for several days had been seeking to obtain assurances of farm-vote support for the $150,000,000 relief appropriation request by Mr. Roosevelt, in return for their votes for the parity item. Failing to obtain the pledges they sought, they then voted against the farm group.

Other Washington Developments

Other Washington developments today included these:

The Senate labor committee decided to start hearings April 11 on proposed amendments to the Wagner Labor Relations Act.

President Roosevelt announced he had authorized construction of two 45,000-ton battleships.

The United States prepared to lift the embargo on war implements shipments to Spain.

The Senate civil liberties committee introduced a bill to outlaw use of labor spies, strikebreakers and industrial munitions.

The senate approved a compromise draft of the governmental reorganization bill and sent it to the house for final congressional action.

President Roosevelt nominated Frederick I. Thompson, Alabama publisher, to be a member of the federal communications commission.

Monday in a $2 skiff, showed up at a Helena hotel today after a 90-mile solo trip down the treacherous Mississippi river.

Calmly admitting her identity to newsmen who found her eating breakfast in the hotel cafe, she expressed disappointment that her daring river trip had caused so much commotion.

She had intended, she said, to remain in Helena and find employment, but in view of the "publicity," indicated she might continue down the river to get away from it.

After breakfasting, she went down to the river front to inspect her frail craft in which she negotiated the trip without ado.

Reluctant to discuss her experience, she said she did not want to go back to Memphis.

She arrived here yesterday, registering at the hotel and mentioning her voyage to no one until questioned by reporters.

Police Control Bill Referred To Committee

Judiciary Group Gets Measure Of Governor

JEFFERSON CITY, March 29.—(P)—Speaker Pro Tem Ed R. Caldwell (D), Ralls county, today referred Gov. Lloyd C. Stark's dynamite-laden bill for state control of the Kansas City police to the judiciary committee headed by Rep. H. P. Lauf (D), Jefferson City.

Lauf stepped out of Caldwell's office a few minutes before the speaker made his announcement.

Lauf is affiliated with the Cole county Democratic organization which opposed Stark's candidate in the bitter 1938 Democratic Supreme court nomination fight. Lauf refused to serve on an escort committee for the governor last week, when the executive made his police recommendation.

Four Kansas City representatives are among the 43 members of the judiciary committee. They are Reps. Edgar J. Keating (D), V. E. Phillips (D), Samuel Hayden (D), and W. Randall Smart (D).

However, several Democrats, regarded as friendly to the governor, also are on the committee, and there is a minority representation of 14 Republicans. Most G. O. P. lawmakers approved the governor's message last week in which he branded police "home rule" in Kansas City a "ghastly failure."

To Press Consideration

Rep. William B. Weakley (D), of the governor's home county of Pike, who introduced the police measure Monday, served notice he intended "to use every means at my disposal to force consideration of it by the House as a body."

This was taken to mean he would seek by 76 vote, a constitutional majority, to force whatever committee received it to discharge the measure if the group delayed consideration of the bill or killed it by an adverse vote. The judiciary committee's next regular meeting is Tuesday.

One veteran Kansas City member, affiliated with the T. J. Pendergast organization, arch-foe of Stark, expressed his way: "Whichever side has 76 votes the day this bill comes up, will win."

The judiciary committee already has killed some measures favored by the governor, including one to require prosecuting attorneys to give written reasons in open court for dismissing any criminal case or granting more than two continuances. This measure was inspired by the Jackson county grand jury, which criticized Prosecutor W. W. Graves' handling of the Gargotta case, often denounced by Stark.

Makes Reply To Demands

Cabinet Approves Answer From French Premier

PARIS, March 29.—(P)—Premier Daladier, answering Premier Mussolini in a radio speech tonight, offered to negotiate France's differences with Italy if definite proposals were made by the Italians.

"Faithful," Daladier said, "to the accords she signed in 1935 (with Italy) France is ready to pursue their complete and loyal execution."

"In the spirit and equivalence of these accords," he said, "she would not refuse to examine propositions that may be made to her."

The premier, raising his voice in emphasis, declared, however, France would cede "not a foot of her territory and not one of her rights."

France, he said, cannot accept the idea that conquest of Ethiopia gave Italy "new rights."

Such an argument, he said, would signify that every new concession would automatically bring new rights.

"Thus the demands that might be presented to us would be practically without limit."

Turning to the German destruction of Czechoslovakia, Daladier cried, "The conquest of Czechoslovakia and the occupation of Prague has been a hard blow to France's patient efforts" for peace.

PARIS, March 29.—(P)—The French cabinet today approved France's answer to Italian colonial demands, which Premier Daladier will broadcast to the world tonight.

Extraordinary precautions were taken to prevent any leak of the contents of the premier's speech before it is delivered. Aside from cabinet members and confidential experts the only person believed to have seen a copy was the British ambassador, Sir Eric Phipps.

Sources close to the government said the more than two-hour cabinet meeting was devoted almost entirely to the speech and its possible effect on the international situation.

Arrangements were made to re-broadcast the speech in five foreign languages—German, Italian, English, Arabic and Spanish.

The address was regarded as an answer to Germany as well as to Italy. The Arabic translation was intended for the Mediterranean and near eastern area to which French influence extends, and the English for her democratic partner.

In the speech, Daladier had an opportunity to meet Premier Mussolini's Sunday address on Italian force and Italian demands with a reference to French force and French demands.

Il Duce spoke of the problems between France and Italy as Djibouti, Tunisia and the Suez Canal, and said that with a Nationalist victory in Spain, a barricade between France and Italy could be considered "sufficiently demolished."

However, France has contended that Italian troops must leave Spain as soon as the war is over.

Daladier speaks as a premier wielding dictatorship powers and with a great majority of the nation behind him. His address is against a background of repeated French assertions that France has no colonies to give away and will discuss other matters only if Italy states them clearly and without threats.

Just as Mussolini Sunday emphasized the strength of the Rome-Berlin axis, Daladier could cite the strength of the London-Paris entente.

Tenth Annual Play Contest

Dresden, Smithton, Maplewood Put On One-Act Dramas

The tenth annual Pettis county one-act play contest opened Tuesday night at Smith-Cotton high school, with presentations by Dresden, Smithton and Maplewood communities. Respective directors of those plays were, Mrs. C. E. Ferguson, Mrs. L. J. Weigers and Miss Maurine Wetzel.

Another group of one-act plays will be presented tonight at 8 o'clock by Bois D'Arc, Quisenberry and Hughesville communities. Announcement of the awards in the play contest will be made at the close of the program tonight by Mrs. Frank Leach, of Sedalia, one of the three judges.

In addition to the competitive plays Tuesday night a men's quartet contest was held, with the Smithton entry winning first place and Longwood, second.

Smithton Male Quartet

Members of the Smithton quartet were William Jackson, Robert Goetz, Lloyd Hayden Knox and Edward G. Ringen, with Miss Virginia Victor as accompanist.

The Longwood male quartet was composed of J. L. Hansbro, Charles Younger, Joseph Alexander and Harry Lewis Leaton, with Mrs. Lewis Leaton as accompanist.

Each group sang "Far Away in the South" by Carrie B. Adams and a selected number.

The LaMonte Women's quartet, singing "Suwanee Shore" and a selected number, against no competition was awarded first place ranking. Members of this quartet were Mrs. Ray O'Dell, Mrs. H. L. McCune, Mrs. R. E. Kerby and Mrs. C. N. Moore, with Miss Shirley Jean Wimer accompanying.

Mrs. H. C. Johnson, a member of Helen G. Steele Music club of Sedalia, was the judge.

Extension Club Chorus

The program opened with the Pettis County Home Economics Extension club chorus singing "The Beautiful Blue Danube" by Johann Strauss and "Dreaming" by H. R. Shelley, under the direction of Mrs. W. P. Tucker, with Mrs. Lewis Leaton, accompanying.

In addition to the quartet numbers, other musical selection presented during the intermissions between the plays were: vocal solos by William Jackson, of Smithton, Harry Leaton, of Longwood and Lloyd Hayden Knox of Smithton and a choral song by a group of young people from the Longwood community, under the direction of Mrs. Leaton.

Casts of the various plays including 38 players have been published previously.

Tonight announcement will be made of the winners in the county play-writing contest by Mrs. H. L. Hill, of Smithton, chairman of the county dramatics committee. Readings and musical numbers supplement the dramatics program.

Despite unfavorable weather conditions, a large crowd attended the opening performance last night.

Traffic Deaths Are Decreased

CHICAGO, March 29.—(P)—Highway traffic deaths declined 12 per cent in February, the 16th consecutive month to show fewer fatalities than the same month of the preceding year.

The nation's February death toll was 1,810, or 250 less than that of February, 1938, the national safety council reported today. It raised to 8,900 the theoretical number of lives saved on streets and highways since the record period of unbroken traffic improvement began in November, 1937.

Added to the 210 lives saved in January, the February mark made the 1939 total 460. Both the January and February death tolls were the lowest for those months since 1933.

Still Rejoice On Cessation Of Hostilities

Cleaning Up Starts In Spain By The Franco Forces

By JOHN P. McNIGHT

MADRID, March 29.—(P)—Church bells rang joyfully today to signal Nationalist Generalissimo Francisco Franco's bloodless conquest in coastal and inland cities and towns where Republican Spain made its last hopeless stand.

Madrid's hungry inhabitants, after months of near-starvation, entry of Franco's troops into the metropolis.

The will to fight that sustained Republicans during 32 months of civil strife, ended with Madrid's submission. Nationalist soldiers moved post-haste to complete the occupation of the remainder of enemy soil. Nationalist authorities formally took over Valencia this morning without meeting resistance.

Celebrate Second Day

Travelers arriving from Valencia said everywhere village church bells were ringing to celebrate arrival of the troops.

Madrid started the second day of celebrating heartened by the sight of long lines of social auxiliary trucks loaded with foodstuffs filing into the city. It was hunger as much as anything that brought this besieged capital to its knees.

Medical sources estimated more than 300 persons had died monthly of malnutrition in the latter stages of the siege that began 875 days ago.

Rafael Henche, socialist mayor of Madrid, was reported arrested. It was understood he had tried to get an automobile to take him to Valencia, but, unsuccessful in that, had stayed here and surrendered.

So fast were Nationalist troops moving through Republican-held territory it was impossible to keep account of the towns they captured. It was believed the Nationalists would finish disarming Republican troops before the weekend.

It was estimated 40,000 prisoners were taken in the Madrid sector alone, with tens of thousands more in other places. As in Catalonia, in northeastern Spain, most of these are to be released as soon as the Nationalists can prove the lack of criminal charges against them.

Then comes one of Franco's biggest problems—getting both his and enemy soldiers back to the farms and factories whence they came.

All Over Except Clean-Up
Thousands of Nationalist troops poured through the abandoned defenses of the Spanish republic to wipe out the last vestiges of Republicanism in central and southeastern Spain.

Except for the cleanup, the war was over.

Thousands of Spaniards, Moors and Italians under the red and gold banners of Franco, generalissimo of Nationalist armies and Caudillo (chieftain) of the new authoritarian government, were garrisoned in Madrid.

Until yesterday, the 984th day of the Spanish civil war and 872nd of Madrid's siege, the metropolis was the principal citadel and symbol of Republican resistance.

Today it still rang to shouts of "Viva Franco . . . Arriba Espana!"—"Long Live Franco . . . Up Spain!"

A Nationalist spokesman said

Land Leased For CCC Camp In Sedalia

Use Barricades In Madrid For Fuel

MADRID, March 29.—(P)—The people of Madrid today tore up street barricades, using the wood in them for fuel—the first to be had freely after three winters of siege.

An old woman in suburban Carabanchel said: "See this bundle of wood in my arms. I gathered it here. It is the first we have had since I burned by kitchen table. I had six nice chairs in my dining room. I had to break them all up and burn them with the other furniture."

Attempt To Cut School Fund Fails

House Defeats Bill Proposing Slice Of $2,750,000

JEFFERSON CITY, March 29.—(P)—An attempt to slash $2,750,000 from the state funds for public schools in 1939-40 was trounced in the house Tuesday. The vote was 101 to 12.

The body defeated an amendment of Rep. J. Arthur Francis (D), Iron county, reducing from 33 1/2 to 30 per cent the general revenue allotment to public school funds. The appropriation bill carrying the customary one-third allowance was perfected.

Francis, estimating the general revenue for 1939-40 at $82,000,000, said his amendment would have given the schools $24,600,000 instead of $27,333,333 for that period.

Francis' assertion that "we need this extra $2,750,000 for aid to dependent children," brought an immediate protest from Rep. John D. Taylor (D), Keyesville.

"We have a bill on this floor now appropriating 29 million dollars for social security," Taylor said. "That's a million dollars more than the one-third allotment would give the schools."

"Yet this social security program was unknown five years ago. Unless some steps are taken to halt it now, it eventually will bankrupt this state."

Francis pointed out that in 1931-32 the school's one-third share was $7,922,081, against $26,822,734 in 1937-38 because of the increases in revenue through sales and liquor taxes.

Rep. V. E. Phillips (D), Kansas City, declared, however, that less actually was spent on public schools in 1938 than in 1931 because, despite increases in state revenue "local taxes had dropped from 43 to 31 millions."

Rep. William B. Weakley (D), Pike county, added that "the only relief the property taxpayers had obtained in recent years has been through reductions in school levy because of this state aid. I think it would be very unwise to reduce this aid at this time."

Rep. T. J. Walker (D), Boone county, secretary of the Missouri Teachers' Association, told the house that the state contributions only made possible salaries of $47.50 a month for teachers in rural districts.

"That's just about what the WPA workers receive," he said.

Bring 200 'Vets' And 14 Officers Here Soon

A lease signed this morning by the Chamber of Commerce, through its president, Joseph L. Rosenthal, Lieutenant Merrill Glenn Rockhold, Quartermaster Reserve, U. S. A., Fort Leavenworth, and Q. A. Morgan, representing Theodore F. Chardavoyne of Newark, N. J., for ten acres of ground, together with arrangements made previously for ten acres belonging to L. B. Starkey of New Franklin, assures the removal of a CCC camp from Johnson county to Sedalia. It will be located on the southeast corner of Sixteenth street and Engineer avenue, the twenty acres extending from Engineer eastward.

The location is furnished by the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce, and the camp is one of the many CCC federal camps throughout the country.

Bring 200 Veterans

The camp will be composed of two hundred adult war veterans, and approximately fourteen officers, including a doctor and educational director. It is not known at the present time who the officer in charge will be.

The men in the camp will work in co-operation with J. U. Morris, county extension agent, on soil erosion work in Pettis county, and Mr. Morris is already arranging for projects.

The men in the veterans camp each receive $30 per month. Unlike the other camps, veterans receive their entire check, not being required to send the major part to a dependent relative.

Buy Supplies Here

All supplies, such as food, milk and the necessities in the camp, will be purchased in Sedalia, and all skilled labor used in construction of the camp buildings will be local men. Other labor will be done by camp inmates.

The officers are not required to live in the camp, and will probably reside in homes in the city.

Lieutenant Rockhold made arrangements while here today to have the Water Company and City Light and Traction Company make connections for water, gas and electricity at once, and work on camp buildings will begin within about ten days. Twenty wooden buildings are to be constructed, all to be new. They will be kept well painted, the officers stated, and the grounds will be landscaped and made as attractive as possible.

Charges Spain Stabbed In Back

MOSCOW, March 29.—(P)—Madrid fell not through a military defeat, the Communist party newspaper Pravda said today, but because it was stabbed in the back by traitors.

"Madrid, which became the symbol of the heroic struggle of the Spanish people for independence and freedom, has been surrendered by a band of traitors to the mercy of the enemy," it declared.

"The troops of (Nationalist Generalissimo) Franco, which feared to match strength against the heroic defenders of Madrid, have had the gates of the capital opened for them. x x

"Thus a circle has been completed; a blockade, famine, withholding of arms, diplomatic intrigue, organization of rebellion, terror, espionage, mobilization of internal and foreign enemies—such are the various instruments of the notorious policy of non-intervention of the British and French stimulators of the invaders."

This, however, is not the last chapter, Pravda concluded.

"Madrid is temporarily in the hands of enemies—temporarily because the struggle of the Spanish people for independence and freedom is not over."

Keep Fire A Servant— Not Master

Here's a little question and answer game that is of direct personal interest to you:

What agency has killed more Americans during the past 25 years than fell in the World War and the Civil War? What surpasses in its constant toll of life and property any devastation of nature? What has destroyed dollar values in the last ten years alone sufficient to build our navy, army and air forces to the greatest in the world?

All three of those questions can be answered in one word—and that word is fire! The comparisons given above were made in a recent article on fire in the magazine Fortune, which observed: "Since 1900 fire has consumed 400,000 U. S. lives, $13,000,000,000 of U. S. wealth, and it still goes strong. You don't have to have it unless you want to."

That last statement may sound like an exaggeration—but the facts bear it out to the letter. Ninety per cent of fires are man made—the result of man's carelessness, man's ignorance, man's conscious and unconscious criminality. The good citizen who lets hazards accumulate unchecked on his property, and the arsonist who starts fires in the dead of night are viewed differently by law and public opinion—but both must bear the responsibility for the thousands of fires, great and small, that occur each year in this nation. The honest citizen's excuse is that he doesn't know about the hazards, or has been too busy to eliminate them—but that doesn't replace destroyed lives or property.

There is an efficient army of experts fighting fire 24 hours a day. Such organizations as the National Board of Fire Underwriters and the National Fire Protection Association are doing a superb job in combating it. But the fullest measure of public support is needed if that work is to bear real fruit. The cooperation of everyone in the fight is urged to keep fire the servant, not the master.

• The Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson and Robert S. Allen

WASHINGTON—The other day in Chicago the Department of Justice indicted 97 milk distributors on the charge of organizing a monopoly, fixing prices and increasing the cost of milk to the consumer.

It was one of the most sensational monopoly moves in recent history and embraced for the first time one of the giants of the milk industry. Even the National Dairy Products Corporation, whose Washington attorneys are Ambassador Joe Davies and ex-NRA boss Donald Richberg, and whose chairman Thomas McInerney, is one of the most powerful business executives in the country, was brought to trial.

Almost no one knew it, but that indictment marked the climax of a long uphill fight for the prosecution of the milk trust.

Prominent leader of the fight was Jerome Frank, one of the most fearless and tireless battlers for the underdog in an administration which includes many such battlers.

The story of Jerome Frank is unique. He is a Jew—brilliant, unassuming, unselfish, unshamed of his religion, yet with the sensitivity of that race. His battling illustrates the deplorable extent to which racial prejudice has crept into government since the days of Hitlerism, even despite a president vigilant in his championship of tolerance.

The First Purge
 Jerome Frank came to Washington during the earliest days of the New Deal as Counsel of the AAA, soon gravitated to the Brain Trust, became a crusader for the farmer-consumer, and as such collided head on with George Peek, Chester Davis and other champions of the big meat-packers, canners and milk distributors.

It was Frank who led the fight for grading the contents of canned goods, who tried to lessen the price gap between the cattle-men and the meat-packers, and who worked to expose the monopoly in milk.

This expose showed that two big distributors, National Dairy Products and Borden held a monopolistic sway over 3,000,000 dairy farmers, refused to return the bottles of independent companies and succeeded in boosting the price of milk to 13 and 15 cents a quart in many cities when it could easily be 6 to 8 cents.

Eventually Jerry Frank's activities caused a secret meeting of the big milk distributors in Philadelphia, where they listed for official decapitation the young men who were helping him.

They were Gardner Jackson and Fred Howe, of the Consumer's Counsel; Einar Jensen, milk administrator for Boston; Jerry Frank and his young assistant Lee Pressman. All had committed the cardinal sin of trying to protect the housewife.

The list was submitted by the big milk companies to Ora Lauterbach, head of the AAA milk section, with the demand that they be purged.

For reasons best known to himself, Henry Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture and boss of the AAA complied. The above were asked to resign. Thus came about the famous New Deal purge of 1935.

Milk Trust Busting
 Four years later it was the same Art Lauterbach ex-chief of the AAA milk section, and part instigator of the purge, who came to Trust-busting Thurman Arnold to lobby regarding the indictments. He had become the lobbyist of his old friends the big milk men. The indictments, incidentally, covered almost the same points raised by Frank and his friends four years before.

Judge Frank Promise
 After he left the AAA, Jerry Frank performed all sorts of odd jobs which the New Deal wanted doing. He took a hand at the impossible task of reorganizing certain decrepit railroads, was given the chore of helping the sugar industry in Hawaii and Puerto Rico, won the Supreme Court battle with the Duke Power Company over the right of municipalities to build power plants with WPA money, and wrote a penetrating book, "Save America First."

Finally in 1937 he was offered the job of Commissioner on the Securities and Exchange Commission. Jimmy Roosevelt called him from Miami to make the offer. In doing so, he said:

"Father knows what you really want, and asked me to tell you that that would come as soon as the legislation passes Congress."

Jimmy was referring to a judgeship in the Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia, to be open as a result of the court reorganization bill.

Frank accepted, has been one of the foremost members of the SEC ever since. But this winter when appointment to the D. C. Court of Appeals came up, Congressman Marvin Jones of Texas demanded the job for himself. Furthermore, RFChairman Jesse Jones, Jack Garner and other powerfully placed Texans demanded the job for him.

When they heard it already had been pledged to Jerry Frank, they saw red. All kinds of pressure was brought on the White House, and finally, unable to get the job for Jones, some of these gentlemen threatened to raise the Jewish issue if Frank were appointed.

At this point the President backed down. Dean Rutledge of the University of Iowa was appointed in his stead, and Frank was offered an expected vacancy on the lower District of Columbia court when Chief Justice Wheat resigned.

This Frank declined, indicating that he would return to private law practice.

Then, a few weeks later, his colleague, William O. Douglas, was elevated from the chairmanship of the Sec to the Supreme Court. Frank, being the foremost Democrat on the Commission, naturally was in line for the job.

However, it developed that the President already had suggested the SEC chairmanship to Robert Hutchins, precocious young president of the University of Chicago, and also some of his Brain Trusters even had approached Leon Henderson of NRA fame, if Hutchins refused.

Under the circumstances, Henderson and Hutchins both friends of Frank, are embarrassed. Frank is equally embarrassed and may withdraw from the picture, but is being urged by friends to remain on the SEC, as his withdrawal at this time would be considered a disastrous blow to the ideals which Roosevelt proclaims.

Labor Board Choice?
 Leading possibility for appointment to the Labor Board in place of AFL-opposed Commissioner Donald Smith is Msgr. Francis J. Haas of Catholic University in Washington.

Tall, sandy-haired, 50 years old and known to his friends as "Father," Haas was born in Racine, Wis., studied for the priesthood at St. Francis Seminary, near Milwaukee, and has been mediating labor disputes since World War days. He knows hundreds of labor leaders and business men personally and is on good terms with both the CIO and AFL.

President Roosevelt appointed him to the original Labor Board in 1933 and he has been a special conciliator of the Labor Department since 1935. Before coming to Catholic University, where he is dean of the School of Social Science, Msgr. Haas was professor of sociology at Marquette University, Milwaukee. He is also the author of a widely-quoted book on collective bargaining.

Note—It is not likely that Roosevelt will do much about the Labor Board until the question of AFL-CIO peace is settled one way or the other.

Life the Great Healer

Wednesday, March 29 . . . to give unto them beauty for ashes . . . the garment of praise for the spirit of heaviness. Read Isaiah 61:1-4.

Translators do not agree about this third verse. Moffatt—being Scotch—says "coronals for coronachs"—doxologies, so to speak, for dirges. But as our spring-borne world begins—a little, and slowly—to put on its garment of beauty, the old translation seems best—"beauty for ashes."

Winter snows only hide the ash piles; the alchemy of vernal life changes ashes into blossoms and dead leaves into the misted green of the tree tops. Life is always like that, it is the great healer. Beneath its ministries sorrows lose their edge, new wisdoms correct old follies, new gains make up for old losses. The ashes of what has perished quicken newer growth. So much they learn who, seeking the true meanings of life, go bravely on. The theologians have a name for this: They call it the Grace of God. Even the violet blossoms

Prayer: Most Gracious God, we Thy children who have so much occasion for lament and so much need of a braver music, thank Thee for the transforming power of life itself. Help us by Thy Grace so to live that, being changed by the renewance of our faith and the completeness of our obedience to Thy ways, we may ever have beauty for ashes. Amen.

• SERIAL STORY

'MRS. DOC'

BY TOM HORNER

COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

The characters and situations in this story are wholly fictional.

Yesterday Emily demands to know whether Alan is going to St. Louis. When he says, "No," she tells him that Eric is sick. Alan faces a grave decision. Should he give up summer for Emily?

CHAPTER XI

SLEEP brought Alan no reprieve from his thoughts. Throughout the long hours of darkness he tossed, weighing one argument against another. At last he knew what he must do.

"I'll go to St. Louis," he said aloud. Only then did he sleep.

Early the next morning it was done. The letter to Peterson written, in the mail, but the satisfaction Alan had hoped for was still lacking.

"So you've really decided to make the change," Farrell asked as he sat in Alan's office. A framed picture of Alan's father looked down from the wall, over the desk.

"Yes, I'm off to the city to become famous." Alan smiled. "Dr. Alan Warren, youngest professor of obstetrics of any medical school in the country. Man, have I fooled them."

"You are young," Dr. Farrell said seriously. "But it's ability, not age, that counts, and Peterson knows it. Do you think he'd be offering you this place if he thought you weren't able to fill it? He knows what he's doing. I've seen the best, studied with them, and you are as good or better than any of them."

"You've got the same asset your father had—the ability to win your patient's full confidence—plus a lot of knowledge and technique that neither he—nor I—ever hoped to have. Your patients know you and love you. They know that you'll do your best, and they never have any thought that that isn't the best the medical profession has to offer. It's a gift the Great Physician bestows only on a chosen few."

"Going to the medical school won't rob me of that—if I have it," Dr. Farrell. There'll still be patients to take care of there, just as there are here. I'll be doing more work—better work."

"Your technique probably will improve greatly, Alan. You'll be doing 20 deliveries to every one you would do here. You'll develop new methods, pass them on to your students and, in time, you will be the great obstetrician—Dr. Alan Warren."

"But it will be different then, Alan. Every patient will just be another person under a white sheet—no more girl you've watched grow into womanhood. You'll probably never know her name; you'll never see the baby after she leaves the hospital. They come and they go, and where they come from and where they go will remain a mystery to you. You'll be a specialist, not a country doctor."

"You make it sound pretty bad, Doctor," Farrell's arm was around his shoulder—the way his father's would have been, had he lived.

"I'm not trying to discourage you, son," Farrell said. "I just want you to be prepared. Think of the advantages you'll have. No more long drives; no more rushing to the hospital in the middle of the night. No more carrying the load of your patient's personal troubles as well as her physical ills. That will be a relief. You can call your life your own."

"I wonder what Dad would have done," Alan asked, looking up at the picture.

"Loving his son, knowing what he knew, he'd probably tell you to take it," Farrell answered. "But he didn't go when he had the chance. He once had an offer to become associated with a New York specialist and turned it down. His work was here, he said, and here he stayed. He might have been alive today if he had gone to the city."

His father had stayed here. Would his father want him to stay, even if it cost Emily's love? How had his mother faced this problem?

MAKING his rounds in the hospital brought Alan relief. Here he could forget his worries about the future and live only in the work of the present.

Grandma Frank's thin, quavering voice greeted him as he entered her room.

"I do declare, Allie Warren," she never failed to use his boyhood nickname—"you're getting more like your father every day. Fine man he was, and a fine doctor too. You'll never know as much as he did. You and all your crazy contraptions, tying me up here in bed with pulleys and weights. When are you going to stop all this tomfoolery and let me go home?"

But her chart belied her cheerfulness. Alan noted the high temperature, fast pulse. "She's steadily growing weaker," the nurse told him.

Alan was almost out the front door when he heard a piping, small voice calling his name down the hall. He turned back to find five-year-old Tim McKay, his head wrapped in bandages, rushing toward him.

"I thought you'd gone home, Tim," Alan said as he lifted the boy in his arms. "How's the head?"

"I'm going home right away. Mama says so," Tim answered. "No more sleds, and no more crashing into trees, or you'll bust that noggin of yours wide open," Alan admonished the child.

"Noggin's all right, Doctor Alan, have you got one?"

"One what?" Alan feigned ignorance, although he well knew what the boy meant.

"Ice cream cone nickel, ice cream cone nickel!" Tim chanted.

Alan reached in his pocket, drew out a coin and solemnly handed it to the delighted boy. "Remember Tim, all it will buy is an ice cream cone." Every child in Summer knew of Doctor Alan's "ice cream cone nickels" and he always carried a seemingly endless supply.

"Ice cream cone nickel!" Tim shouted again as he hurried away to show his gift to his mother.

No, Alan thought, I can't take this with me.

DAYS were too short for Emily. Although no word had come from Dr. Peterson, she was already planning on what furniture she would move to St. Louis first, what she would put in storage until her dream home there became a reality.

Her days were full. Letters to old friends, plans for farewell parties, hopes for the future kept her from missing Alan. And he had kept his promise, too, to try to spend more time with her. Even a steady two-day downpour failed to quell her bubbling spirits.

The rain reminded her of Eric and she wondered how the work at the dam was progressing. She had not seen Eric since that last night, but she had heard of him indirectly from the Price boys, working at the dam. Every unemployed man in the county was working up there, Alan had said.

Emily hoped Eric would beat the rain. That dam was his entire life—now.

Alan came in, his raincoat dripping. A small stream ran from the brim of his hat down over her head and neck as he kissed her forehead.

"I hope you can stay at home tonight," she told him. "This is the kind of a night for popcorn and apples and a good book."

"I'm afraid you'll have to enjoy that alone—and I envy you," he answered. "I've a night at the hospital ahead of me. Mrs. Howland is in."

"They lost their first baby, didn't they?"

Alan nodded. "Premature. Dead at birth. I'm not expecting trouble, but I'm not taking any chances."

The doorbell's ringing interrupted him. Emily answered it. In a moment she returned, waving a yellow envelope.

"Telegram—for you, Alan."

SIX STEPS TO MORE SMOKING PLEASURE

AGEING—Chesterfield's mild ripe tobaccos, like fine wines, are aged for two or more years in huge wooden casks. Here they gradually acquire that true Chesterfield mildness and better taste which give millions of smokers more pleasure.

STEMMING—"Almost human" is what they say about the interesting stemming machines, whose fingers pick up the tobacco, leaf by leaf and take out the stem, leaving only the mild, tender, good-tasting part of the leaf to go into the making of Chesterfields.

BLENDED—There is only one Chesterfield blend... the blend that can't be copied... a happy combination of the world's best American and Turkish tobaccos. Just the right proportions to make Chesterfield a milder, better-tasting cigarette.

PAPER—Every Chesterfield you smoke is wrapped in pure cigarette paper... the finest cigarette paper made. That's another reason why Chesterfields are milder and better-tasting.

MAKING—Almost faster than the eye can follow, Chesterfields come rolling out of the marvelous cigarette making machines. Chesterfields are always round, firm and well-filled.

PACKAGING—Truly amazing are the packaging machines which wrap and seal Chesterfields in their air-tight, moisture-proof packages. Regardless of where you buy them, Chesterfields reach you as fresh as the day they were made.

Society and Clubs

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. McVey, Sr., 1419 South Park avenue, are today observing their fortieth wedding anniversary. The "Christian" a publication of that day, carried the following news item in 1899:

"At the home of the bride's mother, 920 East Broadway, at 8 p. m. occurred the wedding of R. C. McVey and Miss Cassie Haggard. Mr. McVey is the son of Wm. H. H. McVey who lived east of the city and was born and reared on his father's farm. He has a position in the M. K. T. shops and will make his home with his bride on East Fifteenth street. Miss Haggard is a member of the East Broadway Christian church and a successful teacher of Class No. 8 in Sunday School. Her class is one of the most prosperous in all the congregation, which of course, is due to hard work and faithfulness. The Christian expresses congratulations to this happy couple and predicts for them a happy future. These young people are Christians and we expect nothing but good to result from their happy union. They were married by F. L. Cook."

Glamor Boy Of Turf 22 Today

By GLEN RAMSEY
LEXINGTON, Ky., March 29—(AP)—Man O' War, glamor boy of American thoroughbreds, was 22 years old today. Will Harbut, Negro groom, who took over his job of nurse maid to the great stallion nine years ago, fed him apples and carrots for breakfast and "jes let 'im take it easy all day 'cept his morning gallop under saddle o' five miles."

That was the extent of the birthday celebration in contrast to the big cake, brass band and speaking of last year.

"Good day, suh, glad to see you suh, dat him standin' dare," Harbut greeted the visitor. "Look at 'im pose, he know you lookin' at 'im."

Ball Practice Resumes Sunday

Baseball practice for the Sedalia Merchants, which was to have been an all week-daily workout for those boys desiring to make the team, has had a crimp put into the play because of the weather since Sunday.

However, a few boys have been seen playing catch here and there, but as yet the old "sticks" of wood have not been put into use to display the batting eye.

Manager Vincent Seigel is disappointed over the weather results, but issues another call for all interested to report this Sunday afternoon sure. Practice will start promptly at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, "weather permitting," and daily practices will be held thereafter.

It is impossible to use the baseball diamond at Liberty park this week, it's condition resembling a mud lake.

Joe E. Brown In "The Gladiator"

At Uptown Today and Thursday

June Travis and Joe E. Brown

Joe E. Brown, comedian of the big mouth but simple tastes, comes to the Uptown theatre today and Thursday in the picture, "The Gladiator," a story of a small-fry college boy who made good in a big way. Appearing with him in this uproarious comedy of college pranks and problems is pretty June Travis. Also backing up Joe's hand in the development of the situation is little Dickie Moore, a lovable wail who refuses to be left behind when Joe forsakes his job at the orphans home for a college education. You will be amazed at Joe's unusual feats of strength in "The Gladiator" and you will hold your sides from laughter as he flings the tough wrestler "Man Mountain Dean" into the aisles. Co-features on the program is "Two Gun Justice" starring the soldierly Col. Tim McCoy in a thrilling drama of life on the Mexican border.

Corbett in defending his heavyweight championship of the world. The Garfield-Riggs bout was held in the Jeffries "Barn" near Burbank, Calif. This is an amateur fight arena conducted by the one-time heavyweight champion.

Fans Meet Star Face To Face In Technicolor Hit

For the first time in her career audiences are going to have the opportunity of meeting Shirley Temple face to face when they see her in "The Little Princess," the No. 1 star's first Technicolor production which comes Tuesday to the Liberty theatre.

It was in answer to thousands of requests that Darryl F. Zanuck, production chief of 20th Century-Fox, decided to cast the dimpled star in "The Little Princess," and the studio's foremost talent was enlisted to actually put the story on celluloid. The addition of Technicolor entailed tremendous extra costs and created new problems in lighting, costuming and set decoration.

No star has ever appeared before the Technicolor cameras with-

American Girl Is The Bride Of Rich Maharaja

Thirty Year Old Ruler Of Indore Tells Of Event

INDORE, India, March 29.—(P)—The wealthy, Oxford-educated young Maharaja Yeshwant of Indore surprised his subjects by announcing he had followed in the footsteps of his abdicated father and married an American girl.

He told an assemblage which included nobles and officials he had decided on the marriage to give himself "the mental peace" necessary for the proper discharge of "my duties as a ruler" over the 1,325,000 inhabitants of his central Indian state.

The 30-year-old ruler, son of the former Maharaja Tokoji Rao Holkas, whose marriage to the American Nancy Miller in 1928 caused a sensation, said the wedding had taken place recently in Europe.

The bride's name was said by the government publicity director to have been "Miss Branyen" and earlier her name was given as Marguerite Lawler. She and the Maharaja were understood to have met in California about two years ago.

(It was believed the bride was Marguerite Lawler, 30-year-old nurse who attended the Maharaja when he visited California a few years ago.)

Maharaja Yeshwant visited Los Angeles a few years ago with his first wife, the daughter of the junior chief of Kagal, in 1936. She died in 1937.

A scandal over the present Maharaja's alleged attempt to kidnap his discharged Nauch girl favorite, Mumtaz Begum, from a rich merchant named Bawla, led to abdication of the former Maharaja. Under the eastern code even a discharged dancing girl was too good for a merchant. Bawla was killed in the kidnap attempt.

Tokoji Rao Holkas abdicated Feb. 27, 1935, and married Miss Miller on March 17, 1928. He is understood to be on none too friendly terms with his son and said in Bombay today he had not heard of the young Maharaja's marriage.

The present Maharaja's bride was expected to embrace Hinduism as did Nancy Miller when she married diamond and ruby bedecked Tokoji Rao Holkas before a Barwaha throng of 10,000.

Considered an enlightened ruler with advanced ideas of government, the present Maharaja is fond of tennis, bridge and dancing.

Governor Of Kansas To Give Address Here

Among Prominent Speakers For Big Convention

Prominent on the program for the five day session of the 101st annual state convention of Missouri Christian churches, which opens in the First Christian church here on Wednesday, April 26, are some outstanding laymen, among whom is Payne H. Ratner, governor of Kansas, who will address the convention on Friday evening, April 28.

Governor Ratner

It is said of Governor Ratner that in the midst of political responsibilities he does not forget his church or neglect his religious life. The first Lord's day after his inauguration as chief executive of the state, found him in his place in the church. The family was enrolled in the bible school and are regular attendants. When there are guests at the executive mansion over the week end, the governor and his wife bring their guests to church with them.

It is said that when Governor Ratner was considering the matter of being a candidate for the office, and before any mention of his name was made, he had a conference with some church leaders over the matter, and in that conference he said that the things he stood for were the ideals of the church, and unless he could have the support of church people that he would not care to be a candidate for the office. He loves his church and is loyal to it. The splendid vote he received in the primary and in the election proves that the church people of Kansas believe in him and appreciate his loyalty to Christian ideals.

It is expected that Governor Stark will be present on this evening to introduce Governor Ratner and assist in the role of host to the distinguished Kansan.

STILL REJOICE ON CESSATION OF HOSTILITIES

capture of 40,000 Republican soldiers in the collapse of defense lines in the Madrid, Toledo and Cordoba zones had boosted to nearly half a million the number of prisoners taken by Franco since the war started.

"We still have a job of work in cleaning up the Red forces in the remainder of Spain, but it will be a walk-over," he said. "The troops are finding resistance hardly anywhere."

An estimated 200,000 Nationalists already were in or near Madrid. By last midnight 23,000 had entered the city—hysterically welcomed by 1,000,000 persons tired of war.

Down from Madrid housetops yesterday came the banners of republicanism and up went the red and gold of Franco and the old monarchy.

The clenched fist unfolded into a flat-palmed Fascist salute.

Franco's cleanup squads, aided by sympathizers caught in Madrid by the outbreak of the war, began tracking down Republicans wanted for "crimes against the state."

In this category, the charge of having helped prolong the war ranked high as an offense.

Ahead of the Nationalist cleanup in Madrid and along the road eastward to Valencia, there was a stream of refugees who chose the slight chance of escape from Spain to remaining in Madrid to face Franco's administration justice.

Franco himself was not expected to enter Madrid until the "criminal element" had been put safely behind bars. This might be completed by the weekend. Meanwhile Madrid prepared a hero's welcome for him.

Bonfire For Alluring Books

CLEVELAND, March 29.—(AP)—School officials ordered a bonfire today for 100 copies of "Louisiana, the Finest," a 216-page brochure advertising the state. They said the book was entirely too alluring.

The books, which bear the imprinting of the Louisiana department of agriculture and immigration, were sent here for a recent convention of school administrators. Left over, they were gathered up by Cleveland school employees. Officials decided to place one in each school library.

By chance a school board employee took one from the stack before they were delivered.

He discovered:
On page 34, a comely blonde, dressed simply in a few stalks of sugar cane and captioned "lots of Louisiana sweetness."

On page 50, a brunette with scanty costume strung from rice grains and the title "Louisiana's rice makes them perfect."

On page 58, a girl garbed in tobacco leaves and a smile: "You have to smoke up to beat this."

On page 98, a feminine lesson in Spanish moss.

Charles H. Lake, superintendent of schools, threw up his hands and ordered the books burned without further ado.

No Damage Thus Far To Fruit

ST. LOUIS, March 29.—(AP)—This week's cold snap so far has not caused any damage to Missouri fruit or crops, authorities in various sections of the state reported today.

Some fear was expressed, however, that predicted freezing temperatures tonight might nip the fruit trees. The surprise cool wave was lingering longer than the forecaster had anticipated.

More rain, and possibly snow in the northeast portion, is forecast for tonight. It was spitting snow at St. Joseph this morning, and drizzling rain over the balance of the state.

Overnight precipitation was heaviest in the central portion. Columbia reported nearly an inch of moisture and Jefferson City three-fourths of an inch. It measured .69 at Joplin, Springfield .65, Hannibal .42 and Kansas City .24.

Admonition Is Given To Poland From Germany

In the opinion of the Warsaw newspaper, Korrespondenz' article was "an introduction, well known in Poland, to methods of German activity."

"These activities will land Germany in an entirely different position."

"Why should Germany really intend to change her attitude toward Poland," the editorial concluded. "We may assure that country that it will find us prepared for any change."

Yesterday Poland was assured by Germany's envoy that she had nothing to fear from the Reich. But those assurances brought no pause in the nation's determination to put her military machine in order.

The diplomatic position of Poland was to keep intact non-aggression pacts with Germany and Soviet Russia, to avoid open declaration against aggression, and to continue to improve her military machine while endeavoring to stir a strong feeling of patriotism among the people.

Argument on Rates are Heard

WASHINGTON, March 29.—(AP)—Secretary Wallace heard oral arguments today on an examiner's report recommending promulgation of reduced commission rates and charges at the Kansas City stock yards market virtually identical to those invalidated by the Supreme court last April.

The former rates, ordered into effect in 1933 under authority of the packers and stockyards act, were held illegal by the high court on the ground the agriculture department's rate-making procedure was "defective" in that it failed to give commission merchants an opportunity to present exceptions to and argue an examiner's report recommending the reduction.

Proceedings now before Wallace are designed to remedy that defect.

Should the secretary issue a new order promulgating the proposed lower rates, it might have some bearing, attorneys said, on distribution of $700,000 in commission fees impounded while the original rate order was before the courts. The impounded money represented the difference between the rates charged and the lower ones set up by the secretary.

Open Meet for Speakers Club

More than ninety merchants of Sedalia have received personal invitations from the Sedalia Speakers club to attend the open meeting Thursday night, March 30th at the court house.

This meeting has been designated as "Merchants Night" and the entire program has been arranged with the purpose of interesting Sedalia merchants and their employees in the club.

The program committee has announced a favorable reaction from the merchants, some of whom plan to attend with their entire personnel.

Although this meeting is primarily intended for merchants and professional men, the public is invited to attend.

Shot in Battle With Officers

JOPLIN, Mo., March 29.—(AP)—George Lawrence, 28, Joplin, is in a critical condition at a Joplin hospital today following a gun battle here yesterday afternoon with officers who sought to arrest him.

Dempsey Southard, special railroad officer, said he shot Lawrence after the latter had opened fire on Sheriff August Dorsey of Giard, Kas., while attempting to flee from the officers. Lawrence's two companions, sought for questioning in connection with a house burglary at Mulberry, Kas., were arrested and returned to Giard last night.

Police records show that Lawrence served part of a two-year sentence at Leavenworth federal prison, beginning in January, 1937. He was sentenced at Little Rock, Ark., on a counterfeiting charge.

Service Station Sold

The filling station located on highway 50, at La Monte, owned by Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Keck, was sold at public auction by Kemp Hieronymus to Tom Herrick and Will Leach.

Mr. and Mrs. Keck are going to Seattle, Wash., to reside.

Committee Favors $100,000,000 To WPA

was use of more than $300,000 for relief funds to erect an exhibit building at the New York World's Fair.

"The committee is constrained to look with disfavor," it informed the house, "upon the employment of relief funds in that way, as it does upon other portions of the program, which could and should be restricted and curtailed and thereby release or make available funds for the employment of a greater number of persons in actual need, and, at the same time, remove some of the public criticism of this activity."

Recalling Col. F. C. Harrington WPA administrator, had testified there probably were employed on WPA projects about 55,000 persons who are eligible for assistance under the aid to dependent children and old-age assistance programs of the social security board, the committee asserted:

"This is cited as just one instance of an unwarrantable monthly draft upon such funds of $3,355,000."

The committee figured that under the order of congress to remove from the rolls persons not in actual need, WPA would dismiss 88,975 persons at a saving of $16,282,425. Savings resulting from the dismissal of aliens, again under congressional mandate, were calculated at $7,015,000.

In addition, the committee said President Roosevelt's original request for $875,000,000 to run the WPA through June 30—Congress trimmed $150,000,000 from the total—contemplated complete exhaustion of prior appropriations by February 1.

Deductions Suggested
Later it developed the committee said, that there was an unexpended balance of $145,985,711 on Jan. 31, or enough to meet the pay roll of the first week of February, amounting to $45,750,000, liquidate other payroll obligations incurred prior to February 1, amounting to $73,576,680, and leave an unobligated balance of $26,659,030.

"It is submitted," the committee said, "that the $45,750,000 and possibly more, very appropriately should be added to the $725,000,000 . . . to run from February 1 or putting it another way, deducted from the $150,000,000 additional appropriation now requested."

Upon the basis of what was contemplated by the original $875,000,000, the committee said, there could be deducted without interference with the WPA program the $16,282,425 (for persons not in actual need) $7,015,000 (for aliens) and $45,750,000 (payroll for the first week of February)—a total of $69,047,425.

"The committee does not propose to deduct that amount, however," the report said. "It proposes to deduct but $50,000,000 of that amount."

"It proposes an additional appropriation of $100,000,000 and, by so doing, in effect proposes an allowance of $19,047,425 in excess of the $875,000,000 originally requested, and such excess of $19,047,425, added to the unobligated balance of $26,659,030 on January 31, previously referred to, allows a safety margin or reserve of $45,706,455."

Predicts Cut In Load
A report of hearings on the appropriation, released with the committee recommendations, also showed that during questioning by Rep. Johnson (D-WVa.), Administrator Harrington predicted the relief load might be cut in half by July 1, 1940.

"Do you see any chance in the future that the WPA in your lifetime or mine is going to close up?" Johnson asked.

"Yes, sir," Harrington replied.

"When in your judgment will it close up or grow less?"
"I think it will be less by July 1, 1940. I should judge by that time it could be cut in half."

"Is there any process by which we can reduce this WPA list other than by forcing the local communities and the states to assume a greater proportionate share and giving them more of the responsibility for the relief of Uncle Sam?"

"There is no process I can see except by the shifting of people from our work program to local relief."

The farm parity fund, which the house defeated, was designed to raise farm purchasing power. It was not included in the president's budget, but many administration Democrats, including Speaker Bankhead and Floor Leader Rayburn, voted for it.

Mrs. Patterson Is Hostess To Friends
Mrs. Effie Patterson entertained several friends and relatives at her home on Bothwell hill Sunday.

A delicious chicken dinner was served to the following: Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Colwell, Mr. and Mrs. Logan Colwell, Mr. and Mrs. George Cunningham, Mrs. Effie Patterson, Jane Patterson, Earl Patterson, Paul Garrett, Bishop Hunt, Viola Hunt, Edith Colwell and Johnny Cunningham.

Tobacco Heiress' Romance Goes Up In Smoke

Helen Fortescue Reynolds, above, wife of Julian Reynolds, tobacco heir, is pictured as she boarded a Reno-bound plane at Newark airport in New Jersey. In Richmond, Virginia, her husband said all arrangements had been made for a "friendly divorce." Married three years, they have a son.

Hogs Lowest In Four Years
EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill., March 29.—(AP)—The hog market at the national stockyards dipped to the lowest point in more than four years today. The top of $7.15 to all interests was the lowest since December 24, 1934.

Salesman Found Dead By Side of Horse
MOUNTAIN HOME, Ark., March 29.—(AP)—Frank Christian, about 60, who registered at a hotel here last night from Fort Smith, Ark., was found dead today at the side of the hotel building, near his horse, which he apparently was saddling when stricken. Physicians said he succumbed to heart disease.

An identification card gave his address as general delivery, Fort Smith, and listed the name of Maggie Forsythe, Excelsior Springs, Mo., for notification in the event of accident.

A book salesman, Christian had come into this section on horseback.

Would Drop Charge To Replace Certificate
JEFFERSON CITY, March 29.—(AP)—The state Senate today passed and sent to the governor a bill to eliminate the $1 charge for replacing a lost certificate of registration on an automobile.

The action, taken on a bill by Rep. Harry B. McGee (R), Warren county, was the principal accomplishment of a morning session devoted largely to clearing the calendar of routine, non-controversial measures.

The chamber also approved a House-adopted measure which would permit eviction of tenants after expiration of their contracts by action in justice courts instead of circuit courts.

Sent to the House was a bill by Sen. C. S. Duncan (D), Fayette, which would place tourist camps and cabins under supervision of the state board of health as hotels are now.

Doubt President Ask Third Term
WASHINGTON, March 29.—(AP)—Senator Norris (Ind-Neb) said today he had "gained the impression" in conversations with President Roosevelt that the chief executive does not want to run for a third term.

Norris, an administration supporter and third term advocate, explained the President never had actually told him whether he would run again.

Another usually well informed senator, asking anonymity, told reporters he had authentic information Mr. Roosevelt never had given any definite word on the third term issue to his family or his closest advisers.

Norris said it was possible Mr. Roosevelt might have something to say about the 1940 campaign if he makes a trip across the country this summer. The President has planned tentatively to attend the San Francisco fair.

If Mr. Roosevelt should refuse to run himself, Norris said it was possible he would support Solicitor General Robert H. Jackson for the Democratic nomination.

Norris described Jackson as a "thorough liberal" who would be an "ideal president."

Officers Of Book Club Re-elected
The Fortnightly Book club met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. F. Keens, 1008 South Missouri avenue. The business meeting was presided over by Mrs. Sid Condict, president, and the nominating committee recommended the re-election of all officers. This suggestion was unanimously favored and the following were re-elected:

President, Mrs. Sid Condict. First vice president, Mrs. J. C. Ragdale.

Second vice president, Mrs. E. M. Johannes.

Secretary and treasurer, Mrs. C. F. Ernst.

The remainder of the afternoon was spent in reading and refreshments were served.

Agree On Aid To Dependents

JEFFERSON CITY, March 29.—(AP)—The Senate and House late today approved $135,000 a month for state aid to dependent children for the first quarter of this year.

The appropriation is about $33,000 less than the social security commission said would be needed to maintain payment at the present level. Immediately after the legislature approved the appropriation, recommended by a joint committee, the commission prepared to notify Washington to obtain the federal government's one-third allotment.

Since individual checks must be reduced proportionately to take care of the $33,000 drop in A. D. C. funds, officials said it would be several days before the delayed February and March checks could be placed in the mail.

JEFFERSON CITY, March 29.—(AP)—A senate-house conference committee agreed today on a figure of $135,000 a month for state aid to dependent children payments, based on a 1939-40 appropriation of $3,250,000.

The committee split the difference between the senate-approved figure of $167,000 a month and the house allowance of $104,000 monthly. It was the conference committee's second attempt to compromise differences between the senate and house. It first accepted the house recommendation but the senate yesterday refused the report on that basis.

The biennial appropriation as agreed on was $1,750,000 less than recommended by Gov. Lloyd C. Stark for A. D. C. and more than $3,000,000 less than the social security estimated the program would require for the two-year period.

February and March aid to dependent children payments—a third of which is furnished by a federal grant—have been held up because of the absence of state funds.

Hearings On Neutrality

WASHINGTON, March 29.—(AP)—Overriding its chairman by a 11 to 8 vote, the senate foreign relations committee ordered today hearings beginning next Wednesday on a half dozen pending proposals for changes in the neutrality act.

Chairman Pittman (D-Nev) who has proposed revision of the act to bring munitions within the "cash and carry" clause, sought to obtain committee action without hearings.

A 9 to 9 tie vote on the proposal was broken when one senator changed his "No" vote to "aye" and another senator arrived during the balloting to cast an "aye" vote.

Senator White (R-Me) was the committeeman who changed his vote. Senator Green (D-RI) was the late arrival.

The committee then adopted unanimously, Pittman said later a motion that public hearings be held. It named a subcommittee consisting of Senators Pittman, Borah (R-Idaho) and George (D-Ga) to call the list of proposed witnesses and expedite the hearings.

Pittman declared that his reason for opposing hearings was his belief that policy questions involved in proposed amendments to the act already were clearly drawn.

Bill Passed To Increase Board
JEFFERSON CITY, March 29.—(AP)—The legislature set up a $125,000 fund today to modernize the hall of the House of Representatives.

The measure, affecting only the House, would provide funds for an electrical roll call system—nine states already have them—a new public address system and improved lighting arrangements.

Rep. William B. Weakley (D), Pike county, succeeded in amending the bill to require that a five-member committee obtain "the lowest and best bid" and submit it to the House for final approval.

The House also passed, 121 to 1, a bill to increase the board of curators at Lincoln (Negro) University, from seven to nine members. The measure provides that four curators must be Negroes and not more than five can be of the same political party.

Sacrifice Lives To Wreck Tanks
SHANGHAI, March 29.—(AP)—Chinese newspapers printed heroic accounts today of 500 Chinese soldiers who offered their lives to stop Japanese tank charges by strapping explosives to their bodies and hurling themselves at the machines, like living bombs.

Squadrons of heavy tanks plunged relentlessly through Chinese fire and armaments at Sanchang, Kiangsi Provincial capital, Saturday, the newspapers related.

The Chinese command called for volunteers. Five hundred responded, bound dynamite and bombs around their bodies and, when the invaders charged again, threw themselves before the approaching tanks.

"All the tanks were destroyed," the Chinese accounts said, "at the sacrifice of the lives of these fearless soldiers."

(The report could not be confirmed from other sources.)

Man Trapped In Fire Loses Life

DARBY, Pa., March 29.—(AP)—Wedged in a window through which he tried to escape, a 50-year-old man burned to death last night, as fire roared for hours through the Delaware County Mission, turning a prayer service into a panic.

Several others were trampled as 270 inmates sought to flee from the mission chapel which filled rapidly with smoke when flames broke out in a boiler room. Some old and feeble fainted. A few, unable to push through the mass, ran to the second floor and leaped to safety through windows.

Superintendent J. T. Barnes tried to restore order by playing on an organ.

The dead man, Roy Spencer, was among those who rushed for the second-story windows. His clothing caught in a heavy screen.

Tax Federal Employees Now

JEFFERSON CITY, March 29.—(AP)—State Auditor Forrest Smith said today the state could tax the income of federal employees, in line with this week's United States Supreme court decision, without modifying the present Missouri income tax law.

He added, however, no figures were available to indicate how much additional revenue the broadened tax would bring the state.

The Missouri law authorizes the levy on all incomes not exempt under the constitution. Since the Supreme court held federal incomes were not constitutionally exempt they automatically come under the statute, Smith said. He indicated the tax would be assessed beginning with the date of the Supreme court decision.

Give Pre-Easter Entertainment

An impressive pre-Easter entertainment was given Tuesday night by the members of Sedalia Chapter, No. 57, Order Eastern Star, at the Masonic Temple, under the direction of Mrs. Lucille White, Worthy Matron, assisted by Past Matrons Mrs. Ruth Seifert, Mrs. Carrie Hodges, Mrs. Delia Turner and the chapter officers.

There was music by Mrs. Nellie Monegan and Otto Griskat, with Ray Holler soloist.

There were marches, biblical scenes and an evening of entertainment greatly appreciated by those who attended.

Hesitant For Stocks Upswing

NEW YORK, March 29.—(AP)—The stock market showed an inclination to move forward today but had difficulty getting started.

An early uptick, which recurred minor initial losses, stalled as many traders withdrew to await the afternoon address of Premier Daladier of France. Transactions shrank to about 450,000 shares, one of the slowest sessions in months.

While many shares were up fractions to more than a point on the rally, these gains were pared later as the list encountered opposition on the upside.

Bonds also manifested an urge to rise following a hesitant start but moved cautiously.

Higher most of the day were Bethlehem Steel, Goodyear, International Harvester, Chrysler, American Telephone, Glenn Martin, Douglas, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward and Santa Fe.

Johns Manville and Westinghouse were among the losers.

In the curb, gainers predominated and included American Gas and Electric, Lake Shore, Niles Bement Pond and Quaker Oats.

Fear for Safety Of 11 on a Junk

SAN FRANCISCO, March 29.—(AP)—S. W. Fenton, marine superintendent of the Mackay Radio Company here, expressed fear today for the safety of Richard Halliburton, author, and 10 other men aboard the Chinese junk Sea Dragon en route from Hong Kong to San Francisco and unheeded from since last Friday.

Fenton said his company had been operating on a regular contact schedule with the Halliburton party and the last contact was made Friday morning when the junk was 2,400 miles from Hong Kong bound for Midway Island.

Shortly after the last contact a severe typhoon swept the area, Fenton said.

Ships in the vicinity have been asked to watch for the junk. Fenton said San Francisco representatives of Halliburton, fearing for his safety, have asked the navy to launch a search.

Raising a Family

Family Just Will Bicker When Home By Itself

By Olive Roberts Barton

The Joneses sit down to dinner. It is only the family tonight, so each member just feels like being himself.

Father carves the meat and passes it around. "I don't want that part," says Harry, shoving his plate back. "I want the middle piece. Give Sis the tough end."

"Smarty," says Sis. "For once I get a decent slice. What do you think you are, a magnet?"

"Magnet, not magnet, Sister," reproves her mother, "and you have butter on your elbow."

"Stop kicking your chair, Luther," booms Father. "I have a headache. I work hard all day and then come home to a boiler shop that would drive a saint crazy."

"Saints don't go to boiler shops," Harry reminds him.

"Luther," says mother, "my last clean cloth, too. Sister, get a tea towel and wipe up that jelly."

"If you were just as tired as I am—" begins Sis. But a bang of her father's fist that makes the dishes rattle, brings her to her feet in a hurry.

"Joe, you don't need to break the furniture," says mother. "If you expect the children to have some manners, you will have to begin practicing them yourself."

From Mouths of Babes

"Yes, and Dad takes great big bites and he says we have to take little ones," pipes up Luther.

Mother hastily takes a sip of coffee, but Father says, "I'll attend to you, you little dev—rascal, later."

"Look, Mom, you spilled a drop of coffee just now. We're not the only ones that spill the table cloth," says Sister.

"Oh, dear," moans her mother. "This is just too much. I slave and slave to keep things nice and who has a better right to spot a cloth than I have?"

"Rice pudding," snorts Father. "I might have known it. Please excuse me. I cut the club meeting tonight just to be with the family. I'll know better next time."

"That is all right with me," says Mother. "But I'll feed you on peach Melba if you'll give me enough to run the table right."

"Look at Harry," Sis changes the subject. "He is holding his saucer down to Spot. I won't eat off dishes the dog licks. He gets them so clean, half the time they are put away not washed."

"That will be your fault tonight," You're doing the dishes." What, Me? I have a meeting."

No wonder parents take pink pills to digest their food.

Stories in Stamps

Stamps the Germans Didn't Approve

EVENTS moved swiftly during the last days of the World War. With the crash of their operations on the eastern front, the Germans evacuated to strengthen defenses on the west. Thus were abandoned their headquarters in many strategic cities, some of which were in the territory now known as Latvia.

Latvia was created a sovereign state immediately after the war. A government must have postage, but when Latvia turned to find paper stock on which to print its first stamps there was none. War had drained the country of supplies on every hand. There was one surplus stock, however, German war maps which had been seized in the final campaigns.

Promptly, the government gathered these maps and prepared them for its first postage. At the same time postage was printed on unfinished Russian ruble notes, on cheap ruled tablets, on ordinary school scratch paper. The stamps weren't the ideal of a collector's heart but they filled the bill, which after all was the primary consideration.

So Latvia gave the world a set of stamps which Germany certainly would not have approved. One of them is shown here. At the left, above, is a front view of the official stamp. At the right is the same stamp reversed, showing a section of a once highly confidential German military map.

Latvia, in recent years, has issued many beautiful stamps. (Copyright, 1939, NEA Service, Inc.)

union. We'll probably see it in the films as a gang battle.

The Family Doctor

Bumps on the Head May Signify Not Knowledge, but Wens

One of the constant readers of this column writes to say that a large number of her friends in central Illinois, whence she writes, have apparently been discussing wens because a lot of them had bumps on their heads. So she wants to know all about it.

The wen is scientifically known as a sebaceous cyst. It is due to the fact that the sebaceous material excreted from the glands in the skin does not get out because of some obstruction therefore a black plug of sebum will be found choking the outlet to the gland.

The material is dammed back and sooner or later is reacted on by itself and by the material from the blood so that the semi-solid mass becomes semi-fluid. The material is likely to have a rancid odor.

If the wen does not become infected, it can go on swelling as long as the release of the material is prevented. Such bumps have been known to grow as large as a golf ball or even larger before the person concerned consulted a doctor and had the material let out.

Because of the inflammation that may set in, the skin over the bump may become ac'erent to the wen. Moreover, the clothing rubbing against a bump of this kind will irritate it.

Should these cysts become infected, they are a much more serious matter. Frequently bumps on the scalp will be multiple and if they are allowed to grow too large, it may be necessary to remove a considerable amount of skin to get all the material out.

When the wen becomes infected, merely cutting the opening in order to cause matter inside to flow out will not cure the wen. The difficulty is in the structure of the tissues; the lining of the cyst continues to create the sebaceous material which again hardens and begins to collect.

The permanent cure, therefore, involves a complete surgical dissection which will take away the lining walls of the cyst and thus prevent a repetition of the swelling.
